As a proficient and dedicated React front-end engineer with over 2 years of experience in front-end development, I possess a deep understanding of React and the latest web development technologies and tools which I bring to every project.

With a comprehensive background in front-end engineering, My specialty lies in working with React.js, TypeScript, Tailwind, JavaScript and front-end development overall. I have been working on React projects since 2020, honing my skills and expanding my experience in this area.

In addition to my technical proficiency, I have also created numerous small business websites for members of my local community. My work spans across multiple industries, including cafés, restaurants, medical organizations, and law firms. By collaborating with these businesses, I have gained a deep understanding of their unique needs and how to create effective web solutions that meet them.

My native-level fluency in English, combined with my ability to collaborate effectively in a remote setting, gives me the confidence to positively contribute to any project I join.
