As a proficient and dedicated React front-end engineer with over 2 years of experience in front-end development, I possess a deep understanding of React and the latest web development technologies and tools which I bring to every project.

With a comprehensive background in front-end engineering, My specialty lies in working with React.js, TypeScript, Tailwind, JavaScript and front-end development overall. I have been working on React projects since 2020, honing my skills and expanding my experience in this area.

My native-level fluency in English, combined with my ability to collaborate effectively in a remote setting, gives me the confidence to positively contribute to any project I join.
